

My name is Dick Clark, running for the office of Utah State Treasurer. My email is dclark@jpturner.com, and home address is 2405 Evergreen Ave. My website is dickclarkfortreasurer.com, and my age is 62. Occupation is branch manager of JP Turner and Co. LLC, a national investment firm.

I have been a resident of Utah nearly all of my life.

Qualifications:

Over 30 years as an investment broker, manager, RIA (registered investment advisor) agent, commodities specialist, and craftsman in point and figure technical analysis.

Have been on the front lines and trenches of dealing with markets and customers for decades, and bring a unique look at markets and risk determination to the State. I can do better.

Though the State's investment have done well do to Ed Alder (the current State Treasurer), there is room for improvement and I think I can do better. I would not change much, but change the shift a little to looking at supply and demand in addition to what the State has done, relying on fundamentals alone.

I am an advocate of learning Economics, the most influential financial influence on our lives, yet most misunderstood and neglected. I intend to make it more important, in terms of education.

I am running because of my three sons: 2 were in Iraq fighting for us a year ago, and my third son is a member of the Salt Lake Metro Gang Unit, risking his life every night. It was time, after 35 years to do my part for the State.
