Qualifications:

A Provo wife, mother and grandmother, I am a pro-life fiscal conservative. My work as an attorney and for the community gives me the competence to transcend partisan politics to solve difficult problems. Among other things, I will work for quality public education, market-based portable and affordable health care, better transportation in Utah County, and solutions to our energy problems. I will remember who my constituents are and will work hard for them. I've worked at the Utah Court of Appeals, where I learned the importance of drafting good laws. I've represented Utah County children, planned estates for adults and the elderly, and taught Trust Law and Family Law at BYU. I've led on numerous Utah County nonprofit boards, including United Way and UCCU, founding several community organizations and teaching free seminars to benefit my neighbors. My work on conflicts of interest and ethics for nonprofit boards, gives me the competence to improve Utah ethics laws and work for limited and accountable government. I have balanced perspective, experience and maturity. I have one special interest: improving life for my neighbors. I promise to practice a high level of ethics, work hard for my constituents and to do an excellent job.
